Why Festum Evento?

Because this digital tool makes event marketing and sales handy. Festum Evento aims to provide a one-stop shop for event planners and professionals from all industries to promote their events, as well as for shopkeepers in any sector to create offers for their products and services.

With the help of Festum Evento, event planners, performers, and organizers can more effectively and profitably conduct marketing and sales for events like concerts, shows, exhibitions, conferences, meetups, or product launches from the comfort of their homes.

It provides the utmost ease to the audience, in booking tickets and seats online for upcoming shows, workshops, concerts, or sports tournaments.

Our Vision

My team and I are working with a vision to create a platform that lets both small and big businesses grow through our online tool.

Festum Evento is a digital market where not only can the event planner promote his or her events but can also gather people by reserving tickets, as well as allow users to take advantage of the offers running at the local shops nearby.

To add more, it even lets smaller performers and organizers showcase the details of their upcoming events to people around the world through live broadcasts.

Not to mention, the audience can easily buy tickets and choose seats online through this tool.

A Short Message from the Founder

What Inspired Me to Create Festum Evento?

I, Prashant Kakadiya, the founder of the company, developed the concept for Festum Evento in 2018 when I joined Rotary International. I gained knowledge about the entire process of event planning while working with the group. I suddenly understood that many major and minor aspects go into organizing an event.

The concept was then divided into two parts by my crew and me.

One of the components works under the name “Festum Evento” where event organizers can advertise their activities. Additionally, this enables consumers to make reservations for events and benefit from deals at nearby merchants. Moreover, it allows smaller platforms to live stream their activities to a global audience.

The second component is functioning in the name of the Evento Package. This fantastic tool will offer all event planners every major and little facility they need to design an event. Moreover, it enables both small and big businesses in the industry to interact with the worldwide market.

In conclusion, Festum Evento aims to simplify things by bringing event creators and audiences together. Moreover, it also gives organizers and retailers the chance to advertise their offers, publications, and portfolios, increasing their online presence.

Before finishing I would show my gratitude to Rotary International for giving me such a great idea. I'll always be appreciative of them.

And essentially, I want to express my sincere appreciation to my teammates for their unwavering support throughout the process.

“ We haven't yet accomplished our mission, instead, we are on our way to achieving a lot more. We are continually working to create better products and services for our users. ”
